

6 The Postman's Song

Music and lyrics by David Stanley

*The mother wipes away her tears and reluctantly acknowledges the sound of the door.
She places baby back in crib.*

$\text{♩} = 80$

Pno. Suspended Cymbal

7 The door-knocks continue

Postman 2: Anybody in?

Mother: (approaching the door) Yes. Sorry

Postman 2: (enters the room cheerfully) Are there you are!

13

Postman 2

Pno.

19 Più mosso ..handing the package to the mother (they each hold one end)

Postman 2

Just one more! I don't know how I missed it! Sor-ry it took so long Here you are! Now time to make my e-xit!

Pno.

26

Postman 2

Pno.

32

Postman 2

Sing-ing my post - man's song! Sing-ing my post - man's song! Sing-ing my

Mother

Pno.

39

Postman 2

post - man's song! Sing-ing my post - man's song!

Mother

Not a-noth-er book! Not a-noth-er book! I want to Pno.

45 The Postman releases his hand... rall. . . . . .

Postman 2
Sing-ing my post - - man's....

Mother
tell him e - 'vry - thing

Pno.

*A cold flurry of wind causes something to lift off the package.
The label breaks free and dances joyfully upwards.
The mother stretches on tip-toes to reach it but it disappears out of sight*

50 Più mosso Postman 2: It's gone!!!
Company: It's gone!!!

Postman 2

Mother
Suspended Cymbal

Pno.
VAMP Sua Suspended Cymbal

The mother closes the door and returns the baby to the cot

54

Pno.

58

Pno.